Investment

"Economically speaking, early childhood programs are a good investment, with inflation-adjusted annual rates of return on the funds dedicated to these programs estimated to reach 10% or higher. Very few alternative investments can promise that kind of return." - Ben Bernanke, Chairman, Federal Reserve

Investment in early childhood education isn't just good for children – it's also good for New York's economy. Every dollar invested in high quality early education returns up to $14 in savings, by reducing remedial and special education; juvenile justice services and welfare support.

New York State's

INFANT AND TODDLER SERVICES SYSTEM

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

To gain a better understanding of:

- ▶ the components New York's infant and toddler services system
- ▶ how to connect your agency's application to these to this service system
- ▶ the resources we have developed to support your application

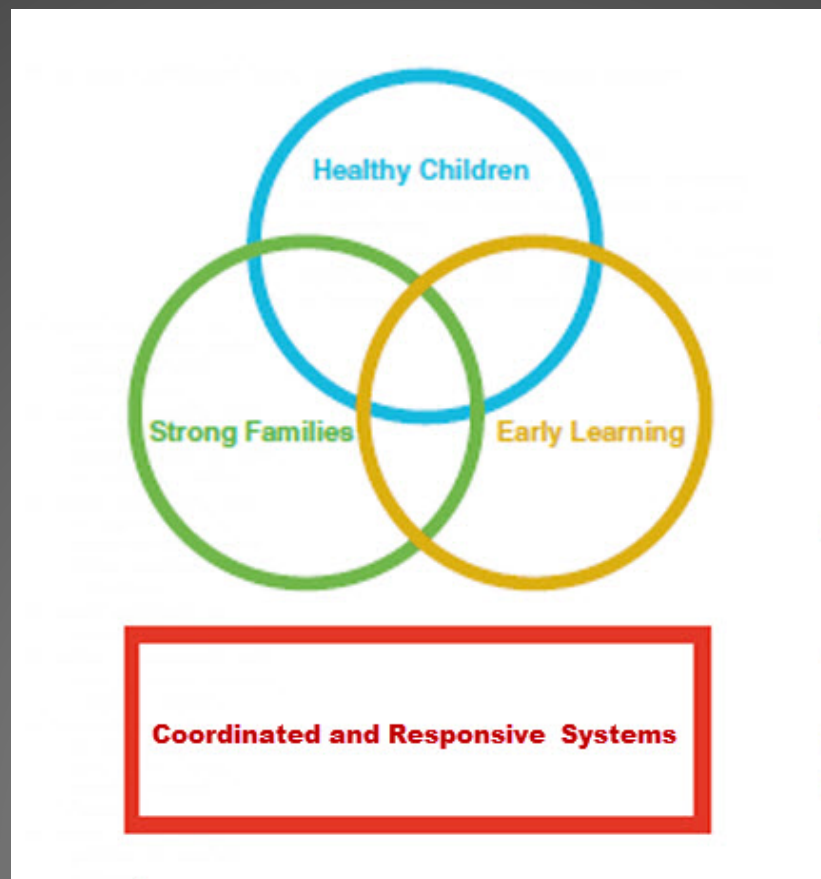

New York State's

INFANT AND TODDLER SERVICES SYSTEM

New York State's

EARLY CHILDHOOD ADVISORY COUNCIL

BUILDING A SYSTEM OF SUPPORTS AND SERVICES FOR YOUNG CHILDREN

SUPPORTS FOR YOUR APPLICATION

- ▶ Application Insert
- ▶ Letter of Support

SUGGESTED INSERT

- ▶ The success of this program will be supported by the comprehensive, high-quality system of services that has been developed for infants and toddlers (children birth through three) in New York State. The work to create this system is led by the Early Childhood Advisory Council (ECAC) which was established in 2009 to develop a comprehensive system of supports and services for children prenatally to age eight. Recognizing the important opportunity to increase the number of low-income infants and toddlers served in high-quality programs, the ECAC has pledged to support the successful implementation of all funded Early Head Start-Child Care Partnerships in New York State.

SUGGESTED INSERT (CONTINUED)

- ▶ In so doing, the ECAC will work to support the success of the funded partnerships by linking them to other components of New York's system of infant and toddler services, while ensuring that these partnerships become integral components of New York's birth to age eight continuum of care. These components include the state's quality rating and improvement system, Core Body of Knowledge, Early Learning Guidelines, early childhood educator professional development programming, parenting educator training, and other elements of the services system.
